

Go Deep in Your Research

No two researchers are alike and the need to access a variety of content from the right resources is what drives research and development forward.

---

Answer the Need

STM Source™ was specifically created to answer the needs of research and development. The extensive scope provides teams with a wealth of information including:

- Over 2,300 active full-text, non-open access journals, including more than 2,000 active full-text, non-open access peer-reviewed journals
- Articles from more than 9,600 publications such as industry journals, monographs, reports and conference proceedings
- More than 24 million records with subject headings from an extensive thesaurus
- Searchable cited references for nearly 780 journals
- Additional content including images, tables, charts and more...

The One-Stop Information Resource

This multi-disciplinary database allows for multiple R&D teams to quickly find the information that matters most to their work – anytime, anywhere.